Aragoncillo gets 10 years in prison; Erap says too harsh

SENATOR ARAGONCILLO WAS SENTENCED TO 10 YEARS IN PRISON FOR STANDING AND POINTING HIS WEAPON AT A JUDGE IN A BID TO STOP THE NEW ADMINISTRATION FROM OUSTING PRESIDENT JONAS ARAONCILLA, A SCOTCH OF SCOTCH, PHILIPPINE, CALLED THE SCOTCH "BULL."

Aragoncillo apologized for his act, saying he only wanted to help bring the Philippine people out of poverty. "I never intended to cause harm to anyone in the United States," said Aragoncillo, a 50-year-old US citizen who was born in the Philippines.

US District Judge Philip L. Waller said the prosecution against Aragoncillo was "unreasonable."

ANOTHER PHILIPPINE SCANDAL has hit Filipino investors after another group of wealthy investors, which promised high returns, failed up where investors expected them.

This time, the victims appear to be the well-heeled.

First-time home buyers lost after the owner of a foreign exchange trading unit disappeared, leaving the company's bank accounts empty and leaving nearly empty.

Secondly, a professional trading unit called Performance Investments Fund Inc. (PIFI) managed by the National Bureau of Investigation (NBI) to help fund the company's Philippine assets who is suspected of having stolen assets from the bank.

In a letter to NBI Director General M. Martinez, Comptroller General, PFIPI general manager, requested the help of the bank to locate Michael P. P. (PFIPI), the owner of Performance Investments Fund Inc. (PIFI) in the Manila-Vigan Islands Development Investment, Inc.

"I, together with the other investors of Performance Investments (PIFI) have reason to believe that Mr. Luman would have lost $200,000 of Performance Investments (PIFI) to the great people of his investors, his assets," he said in his letter.

Luman asked the NBI to determine Mr. Luman's current whereabouts for his

MISSING ACTIVIST JONAS Burgeon is a member of a unit of the communist New People's Army based in Bulacan, Army chief Lt. Gen. Romeo Tolentino claimed yesterday.

According to Tolentino, that was the finding of the background check conducted by the Army on the 27-year-old activist, who disappeared after he was reportedly taken by an armed group from Quezon City last on April 28.

But when Tolentino asked him the significance of the finding, Tolentino could not say anything.

"You young manhood may have been involved in the military, but you are not a soldier," Tolentino said of the 27-year-old son of the late press freedomist.

He said the Philippine National Police, the Army, the Department of Justice, and the Department of Education are working to find him.

South Korea embassy lifts ban on visa issuances

By Terry Quiomako

SOUTH KOREA YESTERDAY resumed processing visa applications from Filipino workers in Philippine immigration offices around the globe after an eight-month ban.

Following a "summit" meeting with officials of the Bureau of Immigration (BI) on Wednesday afternoon, South Korea embassy Consul General Hong Sang-ho said that the suspension, resulting in BI's promise to act on requests that several foreign firms have filed earlier to reinstate visa processing in the country.

"I lifted the suspension after talking with BI officials over lunch. They came up with a very good plan that will ensure the comfort of Koreans regarding their return," said Hong in a phone interview with the Inquirer.

He declined to disclose BI's plan to address the entrance problem but said he was convinced that immigration officials could do something about it, dooming Wednesday's meeting to "success."

"I was given the assurance that they will do something about it, that's why we resumed (visa) issues and I am expecting that measures will be taken... It was my usual judgment that they will come up with solutions," said Hong.

With the bureau's promise, he said, the Embassy was able to deliver peace among the Korean community in the country, currently numbering 80,000.

Applying for substantiating those Filipino, Hong said the measure was the best he could take in the Korean immigration office would have better any and affected Filipino citizens in South Korea had he not endorsed the brief suspension of visa issuances here.

"I got information that the Korea's immigration office was already getting pressure to complete its visa country and I learned that Korea may take action against Filipino illegal," he explained. "You see, I had to avoid that situation," he said.

There are an estimated 30,000 Filipino workers in Korea, of whom 15,000 are undocumented. Hong had said in an earlier interview.

In deciding to take the "thrust measure" of suspending visa issuance, Hong said he was "deliberately giving rise to a very serious situation to myself to the Philippine government to address the problem of the Korean community."

Had he not done so, "the situation here this government would have taken a longer time," he said.

Hong had earlier apologized to the Department of Foreign Affairs for endorsing the suspension without first informing the LRA and said that the foreign office viewed as a branch of diplomatic protocol.

Party-list group presses withdrawal of nomination of Miriam's son

By Christine N. Esguerra

THE GUANTANAMO group representing the interests of the son of Sen. Miriam Defensora Santiago is not giving up its bid to withdraw her nomination for senatorial representation, and ultimately, expect him from the group.

Frank Roy Riba, national president of the Alliance for Real Cebuana (ARC), yesterday said the party's executive committee is studying the possibility of withdrawing the name before the Supreme Court is filing a motion for the Commission on Elections.

Riba said the group had been studying for weeks the Commission's decision to name in his son's "father" Santiago II as the name for the son's nomination on the withdrawal motion was refused.

Outsider

The ARC, which is considered an "outsider" in Manila, has the reputation of being a group that is not from the Commission. It is usually the case that it filed the motion, according to Riba.

"There was a group called the Commission," he said. "The fact is that we are not from the Commission. We are not from the Commission. We are not from the Commission."

Lawyer J. de la Cruz, who is the ARC's attorney, said that it was withdrawing the nomination of Santiago because he allegedly violated the party's constitution and by-laws.

Riba said the group was particularly upset by Santiago's decision to go into politics, after having left the party's executive committee. He said the group was particularly upset by Santiago's decision to go into politics, after having left the party's executive committee.

Explosion

Inside the ranks of withdrawal, a group more to report Santiago from the group was called by some members, very recently, to end.

Santiago's son, who is the ARC's attorney, said that it was withdrawing the nomination of Santiago because he allegedly violated the party's constitution and by-laws.

Welcome news

In a previous interview, Riba said the ARC executive committee had decided to withdraw the nomination of Santiago from the group because he allegedly violated the party's constitution and by-laws.

"We don't get him to withdraw from the party," he said.

Centenarian among 1st to get high-tech RP passports

By TerraQuilomundo

TODAY, 100 YEARS OLD IMMIGRATION AGENT of Ilanot Neri will be one of the first Filipinos to receive a machine-readable passport, a milestone made possible thanks to the foreign office's initial testing this week to catch up with the rest of the world.

The Department of Foreign Affairs is releasing today the first batch of machine-readable passports to ensure citizens who were the first to apply for the upgraded documents when the DFA initially offered them to the elderly migrant workers and their dependents last February.

Among the first batch of recipients will be Antonio, whose application was submitted by a relative on July 13.

Through its supplier, the Bangkok-based Kyj Corporation (KJC), the DFA opened applications for the machine-readable passports with an initial batch of more than 1,000 holders, each of whose papers bore an advanced security feature to ensure that they are genuine.

Biometrics

The issuance of the machine-readable passports (MRPs), a booklet that uses biometrics as the authentication system, will be done by the DFA's new 4th side by side window, a new improvement that the DFA has adopted to the face of design in the implementation of biometric passports.

Antonio's Secretary for External Affairs, Benjamin Lagunas, is just the central office, signed in June by the second quarter of 2008 the new advanced chip-embedded passports, which is the current gold standard in the world.

"We want Filipinos to experience peace of mind, migration officials don't have to manually check their passports from just having the computer read," Lagunas said.

The country has to catch up just as the Philippines remains among the three poorest of countries still not using machine-readable passports, he said. Korea was already using MRPs, he said.

Back to basics

"I think this will be helpful because there are many immigrants who have false passports," said Benjamin Lagunas, 55, a retired teacher who lived up to seven years in prison for his role in the 1988 Manila office in Paris City.

On June 10, 2006, when the old green passport expired in May 2006, only 10,000 holders of the old passport were issued new passports.

Though citizens are given a choice between getting the new machine-readable or the old-style green passport, Lagunas said he might as well apply for the upgraded version.

"I got the old one, immigration officials might wonder why and might not allow me to leave the country," Lagunas said in Manila.

Since June 10, 70, issued all the way from Centennial Neri to issue his passport. A former migrant worker, who took his first and only trip out of the country in 1992, needed to have his passport renewed as his first passport had expired in 1992.

DFA's mandate

Lagunas said the DFA would soon announce the date when the general public can start applying for machine-readable passports, which, like the old one, costs P700. Citizens whose passports will have some years to go before they expire will still be recognized, he said.

"There are legal obstacles for us to proceed with the implementation of the machine-readable passport project. It is not immediate and requires a lot of resources," he said.

The DFA started issuing MRPs to government officials on June 10, some three months after the Supreme Court lifted a restraining order that a city court had issued in response to an injunction filed last year by the International Trade, for e-passport project's digital certificate to stop the DFA from printing the project website.

The first man, Lagunas, however, was issued in December 2006 after he failed to deliver on time," said Lagunas.

The DFA started issuing MRPs with the help of the French-based biometric technology, which created a passport, printed and the software.

IZA CALZADO: Perfect to the original.

Iza Calzado hopes to blaze Hollywood trail for Pinoys

By Report San Diego Jr.

"EXPERIENCE, THIS WILL OPEN DOORS for other Filipino actors," said actress Iza Calzado, who tagged a role in "The Inbetween" (English language remake of Filipino director Jose Lacuna's 1999 film "Pagapal").

Calzado will be shooting the series with Hollywood actor Sam Rockwell, who was last seen in Clint Eastwood's 2001 film "The Two Faces of January".

"The Inbetween" is a thriller about a woman who goes missing and is found dead. Calzado said she is excited to work with an "Hollywood" star and to be part of a "big production".

Although she would be working in a role that was not in the original, Calzado said she was not in the original, she was not in the original, she was not in the original.

"We are not replacing anyone, but we are adding a new character," she said. "I am not replacing anyone, but we are adding a new character."

Calzado's boyfriend, actor-manager Jon Jon, helped her "navigate" with the US-based producers. He's very supportive and he's helping her in her, she said, laughing.

Angat water supply down to critical level

Metro residents need not worry—yet; cloud-seeding mullied

By TJ Rangel

DO YOU KNOW

The National Disaster Coordinating Council, also known as the National Disaster Council, is the highest policy-making body in the country. It is composed of the President, Vice President, Speaker of the House, and 12 members. The council is responsible for coordinating the government's response to disasters.

KEY: Philippine Disaster Council

THE WATER LEVEL AT ANGAT DAM HAS GONE DOWN TO A critical level, but there is still enough to supply the basic commodity to households in Metro Manila, officials said yesterday.

After weeks of low rainfall in the summer, the water level further dipped to 175.20 meters, just below the minimum operating level of 176.14 m, on Thursday.

Despite the drop, the Public Works Department (PWD) said it has enough water to supply the city and the surrounding areas.

"There is still enough water to supply the city and the surrounding areas," said a PWD spokesman.

He added that the water supply is still enough to supply the city and the surrounding areas.

By Reynald San Diego Jr.

A FOURTH-BIRTHDAY GIFT is what actor Raymart Santiago describes the birth of his son.

His wife, fellow actor Claudine Barretto, gave birth yesterday, 1 day before his eighth birthday.

Santiago said the birthday was originally planned to be on his son's birthday on July 28.

But, at 12:30 a.m., yesterday, Barretto's "baby boy" arrived.

Santiago said the baby is a boy and is healthy.

He is now 7-44 cm, 8 kg, 100 g, 100 g, 100 g.

The baby was doing fine, his father said.

"This was huge, she's happy that she had a son and delivery," he excitedly beamed.

The actor said his 8-year-old son was very happy.

Pakistani seeks to collect $2.5M from PCU

By Alfonso W. Lopez

A PHILIPPINE SCHOOL ADMINISTRATOR is asking the Manila-based Trust Court to order the Philippine General Insurance (PCI) and its former president to pay him $2.5M (US$207.11M) in damages.

Retired Col. Agil Ardan, 64, and his wife and property of the National Institute of Science and Technology (NIST), asked the court to enforce the judgment of a Philippine court.

Ross filed a petition, through his local counsel, a civil case for the "enforcement and enforcement of a foreign judgment."

The petition was filed on September 2003. Decision by the Trust Court issued on October 17, 2003. The court ruled in favor of the Trust Court, ordering the PCI to pay Ardan $2.5M (US$207.11M) in damages.

"In spite of financial and other difficulties, the Trust Court of the Republic of the Philippines has ruled in favor of the petitioner in the case of Ross v. PCI," the court said.

Ross and the agreement are concerned with the amount of damages. He added that the court, in its decision, had no right to award damages. The court said that the Trust Court had ruled in favor of the petitioner.

Court issues TRO stopping work on Intramuros project

By Alfonso W. Lopez

MANILA REGIONAL TRUST COURT has issued a temporary restraining order on the PCU Intramuros project complex project of the Philippine Trust Court.

The court issued the order on July 17, 2003, after the court had ruled in favor of the Trust Court, ordering the PCI to pay Ardan $2.5M (US$207.11M) in damages.

provision of Presidential Decree No. 1616, as amended, and its implementing rules that prohibit any form of construction or repair in Intramuros without a development permit from the PCU. The decree declares the entire Intramuros area as a major historical landmark.

The court also issued the order to the contractor to refrain from performing any work on the Intramuros project complex project of the Philippine Trust Court.

With peso up, gov't saves P20B in 1st half

By Michelle V. Sano

THE GOVERNMENT SAVED P20.2 billion in the first half of the year due to the appreciation of the peso, which allowed it to pay less interest on its borrowing obligations.

Save from the Department of Finance (DOF) showed that the government spent P27.2 billion in January to June to pay for its interest on loans—more than the reported P48.4 billion.

The reduction of the government interest cost of these borrowings through the increase of government securities buy and abroad, and availability of sufficient foreign exchange resources enabled by foreign banks.

The government spends a substantial amount of its annual budget in payments of interest on its foreign borrowings. For the entire year, the government has programmed P116 billion for interest payments. This represents 23 percent of the P506-billion national budget for 2007.

Finance officials said the lower than programmed payments for interest on borrowings was a result of foreign banks' due to the strengthening of the peso. The peso appreciation helped cut the amount of foreign currency debt contracted debt or loan interest payments.

The government's budget program for the peso, which showed that it would spend P1.6 billion for interest payments in the first half, was based on the assumption that the peso would average only between 40 and 50 per dollar.

But because of high dollar in the bank, the peso has been hitting record highs, now breaking into the 40-to-50 range, which, since the start of 2007. Again, the peso's strength has led to a lower peso high, closing at 45-51.

The savings, noted by Philippine banks, said the government's savings resulting in the appreciation of the peso was due to the increase in government income of interest payments, which were reduced due to the strengthening of the peso.

Currency marked 7-year high, closing at P45:$1

By Oscar L. Lora

THE PESO ROSE TO A NEW SEVEN-YEAR HIGH, and briefly flirted above a major resistance level, as fund flows into the local stock market ahead of a major stock offering continued.

At the Philippine Stock Exchange, the peso closed at P45.11—a highest level since August 2000—after reaching a peak of P45.15 during afternoon trading. The closing rate marked a 28-cent appreciation for the local currency against the US dollar which, at P45.11, was 100.00 pesos, but lost a fraction of a cent in foreign exchange markets worldwide.

Meanwhile, the trend of rise of the most influential treasury instrument in the country pointed out that market developments on the local and international front have yet to make their influence felt on the local currency.

The foreign exchange play is simply driven and has been favored in the market.

THE SENATE Committee for Intellectual Property Rights (SCIPR) has seized some P1.25 billion worth of pirated goods in the first semester alone.

This is equivalent to almost half the value of counterfeit goods the committee confiscated since its inception in 2005.

The group—sponsored by the Intellectual Property Office of the Philippines and composed of representatives from agencies Bureau of Customs, National Bureau of Investigation, Copyright Commission and Philippine National Police—has seized its share in 19 different types of pirated items since its creation.

SCIPR director general Adriano Guadalupe said the value of confiscated goods in the January-June period had already surpassed the total haul last year of P1.21 billion.

"This first half report is the outcome of successful law enforcement intelligence gathering among SCIPR members that does not stop at information. It yields successful results," he said.

Over the past two years, he said, SCIPR and the enforcement agencies had been coordinating more closely with other SCIPR members, including the Department of Justice, National Police, Department of Education, Department of Trade and Communications, Department of Environment and Natural Resources.

Since January 2006, enforcement agencies have confiscated approximately 870 tons in the amount of 362 seized seizures.

In 15 operations, the agencies were able to seize 10,000 items and destroy them.

The BOC seized the largest value of pirated goods at P68 million in the first six months, more than half the P123 million worth of goods it seized last year.

The DRR seized P45 million in the second half, contributing to the total seizure of P1.25 billion worth of goods.

The PRR seized P132 million worth of fake goods and filed 118 cases with the DOJ.

SCIPR also aims to be seen with the President's directive of upholding copyright and properly rights over this program. It also aims to develop local talent and creativity, and at the same time encourage more local investors to create jobs and economic growth in the Philippine market.

Big banks now willing to lend more money to SMEs

By Tina Arce-Osorio

THE FINANCIAL CRISIS HASN'T yet fully hit the banks, but the credit and rural banks and commercial institutions have been for a long time—there is a tendency to be stuck in lending to the state, small and medium enterprises.

But despite why banks such as the Bank of the Philippine Islands and Banco de Oro have been a close look at increasing their exposure to companies with assets below P100 million, which are crying out for affordable capital to expand their business.

BPI president Arsenio Maramba III said during the recent edition of the Credit Market Symposium at Rigma de Greenbelt 5, Makati City, that the bank intends to increase the share of SME lending to as much as 15 percent of its total portfolio by the end of this year.

The SME market cannot be ignored primarily because of its size—more than 90 percent of all firms registered in the Philippines are classified as SMEs and employ more than half of the labor force.

Thus, aside from the interest income source loans extended to the SMEs, banks can get the added satisfaction of helping agro-economic growth by extending loans to the SMEs.

"What is happening now is that everybody is looking at lending to SMEs, and I expect the growth of lending to SMEs will be higher than the lending to the corporate side," Maramba said.

He outlined it partly to the state in-

What to wear to work?

THE NEW WORKING WOMEN HAVE the option to wear what suits them best, whatever be it their confidence, glamour allows them with more ease.

Work wear for women has evolved through the years—from the cotton shirt and pleated skirt of the glamorous days to the rather casual casual Friday clothes to sport wear.

In the USA, today's working women are less concerned and being satisfied with a crisp pants apron and a great sense of style.

Check out the latest collection at the Ladies' Wear Department of all S&B stores.

Make mine mascara

I sometimes use two kinds of mascara in one stroke. I apply the volumizer first, let it dry, then add a second coat using the lengthening one. Applying mascara to your face helps a personal preference. If you decide to do so, make sure to avoid the "spidery" look by applying minimally. Start at the inner corner and sweep to the outer eye.

One more piece of advice: If you want your mascara to last longer, then avoid touching the mascara wand, as this can get the tube with oil and other eye makeup factors.

To avoid clumping, make sure to wipe the wand with a clean towel before each application.

It must be, my belief, my opinion.

Thinking in and out of the box

THERE IS AN ART TO creativity. In expressing your personal style, there is a fine line to tread between being fashionably distinct and overly trendy. Playing it "safe" could come out so boring, while exploring ever the top could be perceived as trying too hard.

The key is knowing how to mix and match the classic and basic with distinct pieces, to come up with your signature style. Fashion without desire is flat, uninspired, before stepping out of the box we need to know where to look.

Now, that is the idea behind the T-Box line—the cult fashion line that offers a laid-back, wonderfully wearable style aesthetic, without the over-the-top. In fact, it is synonymous with innovation.

The label from Turkey has made a name for combining creativity and flair while subtly incorporating the latest trends in color, style and culture into their line. Its fashion philosophy is completely and unapologetically geared toward to be fun.

Creativity enters into play by incorporating vibrant colors and patterns in order to come up with original looks. It has it all along bringing out the multidimensional nature of the person.

There's nothing like a mix of colors, textures, and styles, to create a look that is truly unique. The key is to mix and match the classic and basic with distinct pieces, to come up with your signature style. Fashion without desire is flat, uninspired, before stepping out of the box we need to know where to look.

Now, that is the idea behind the T-Box line—the cult fashion line that offers a laid-back,

The brand, founded by the very creative and innovative minds of "supreme" packaging. Thus, the garments come in various shapes and sizes that reflect the artist's vision of the world. It's a big hit for the so-called "supreme."

From more distinctive, each T-Box product contains real one-of-a-kind items for European shoppers who have to wait for their change. Therefore, the line and the name are collected and sold for a tiny fee.

The brand, which is already a big hit in 27 countries, was brought into the country by the same owner who has been in the fashion line with their top-selling "Supreme." While just means they're on to something! When creating a fashion revolution, begin with the basics.

T-Box is at 212 Archetype Avenue, Power Plant Mall, Rockwell, Pasig, and Shoppin' in Plaza.

NO NEED to sacrifice style or color for functionality anymore. Being creative is the only way to stand out. So, mix and match the classic and basic with distinct pieces, to come up with your signature style. Fashion without desire is flat, uninspired, before stepping out of the box we need to know where to look.

EXPRESSIONS: a unique fashion aesthetic that can produce a small chain to give you, T-Box lets you pull together creative outfits by putting pieces from the collection.

Melany Kang (T-Box's CEO) and Jenni Epperson (T-Box's Creative Director)

THE BRAND's signature line of light, primary colors makes it easy to mix and match to get the perfect look for the day.

Decadently dark

Mush... hush, sweet Charlotte

By Janet Rappaport

IT'S ALL ABOUT THE ATTITUDE. A raised eyebrow. A very smile. An uncontainable sensuality beneath a cool, clean veneer. You carry it with you wherever you are, whether you're exploring a museum, watching a fashion show on front row, sipping a cocktail at a bar or just serving a meal in a dark corner of a restaurant. You're showing the world who you are, yet you're keeping the juicy secrets to yourself.

There is something flaming about Charlotte, an attitude that's edgy and dark, a style that is fun and feminine. This is the Muse of Charlotte.

These designers are sophisticated characters for the chic young women of today. The forms are feminine without being girly-girl in prison predicament. Single statement pieces can be mixed and matched with subtle and versatile items, strong, angular juxtaposed with delicate pieces, or soft elements, jackets over long, lean tops and playful details.

The brand takes its name from... a religious reference? No, that's right. For it was in Gerrit Hall, then the home of the St. Bonaventure School of Design and Art Fashion Laboratory where the two young fashion entrepreneurs found the brand. First met, London-born, the British, Cheryl Thompson, and Charlotte (Charlotte) were both born taking up fashion design and then graduating back in 1998, and when they began to explore their own clothing line in 2002, they decided to give another character fashion education lessons by naming the brand after their college home. The irony that two of them eventually left the school (one's mother died, and Cheryl jokingly says that their capriciousness might be compared to her when they're unemployed).

Even after they left college, they're all graduates around the fashion world. Cheryl began commercial and print modeling; she took up fashion design at the Fashion Institute of Design in Australia. Another student in Fashion Design at the Art Institute of New York and the Fashion Institute of Technology, and London continued her fashion education in Melbourne's Institute of Management, graduating with a master's degree in Fashion Brand Management.

Then they're using their combined experience and love for fashion in the fashion business, with each playing an important role in the team. Their design begins with Cheryl's modeling and designing, but soon her artistic and technical design skills, having been her focus in school, and influence the team with new ideas and inspiration. Cheryl has been working in New York's fashion industry and London handles the marketing and financial aspects of the business. Their skills and ideas often complement and overlap, allowing them to stay true to a single vision for their brand while incorporating new ideas and inspiration.

Charlotte named the label's character roles off the runway. The women who wear Charlotte are self-assured and confident, they know who they are and when they wear, and they're not afraid to experiment to find the role of fashion. Some character papers offer an in-depth explanation of Nancy Thompson, the quirky fashion sense of Cheryl Thompson, or the sensual seduction of Sophie Thompson.

ROTARY CLUB OF MAKATI POBLACION

"Since we switched to Sun, we've saved over 80% on our phone bills."

Dr. Anthony "Tony" Christian, President, Rotary Club of Makati Poblacion

"Sun is practically an honorary Rotary Club of Makati Poblacion member!"

Consistent of 34 words and four simple questions, the Sun Day, Sat & Sun is the Rotary Club's way of giving its members and community the best service possible by providing thought, help and love.

Sun was subject to the same test conducted with flying colors. One could say that it lives up to the Rotary motto of service above self.

That's why most Rotary Club of Makati Poblacion members now use Sun for their communication needs. Members can easily be contacted at meeting club meetings and other special events. There's no need to keep calls or text messages. They just use Sun as a P10 plan to increase coverage exponentially. For more info and more exciting services.

It's only because it's so affordable. There's a lot of other providers," says Dr. Christian, president of the Rotary Club of Makati Poblacion, one of the fastest growing clubs in the country.

"There are other Rotary Clubs who were looking for new providers and they saw the benefits of switching to Sun," adds Dr. Christian.

With the philosophy of "Service Through Technology," the Rotary Club of Makati Poblacion has a number of exciting services for its members. Service above self is a common theme for both the Rotary Club and Sun.

Pinoy, Chinese, Russian acts in one show

SOME OF THE COUNTRY'S BEST THEATRE talents team up with internationally renowned performers from China and Russia in "Whodunnit"—a journey like no other adventure inspired by classic stage productions around the world.

The show combines elements of theatre, dance and the arts and stars from Germany, China, Russia, Venezuela, the Philippines, Vietnam and the Philippines, along with students from China's Beijing University and jazz and ballet dancers from Russia.

The event marks the start of the 2010-2011 season of the Pinoy, Chinese, Russian actors in one show.

If she had her way, this Pinay-German beauty would stay in her room all day, watching TV with any of her four beloved dogs.

SHE LOVES her bedroom and admits that she can be lazy on her days off.

JEN RINGENHAGEN, A FILIPINO-GERMAN beauty, isn't ashamed to admit she's a homebody.

"I used to like partying when my family lived in Germany, but when we moved back to the Philippines (when I was 14), I quickly adapted to my new life," she explains.

The 26-year-old has become domesticated. "When I have no work, I just stay home," says the new GMA 7 Actor Center contestant.

"I love my room. I usually stay in bed and watch TV all day for no reason."

Her favorite shows are "Glo's dancing" "house" and "Jits."

At the face of her bed, two flower-like round black and white round pots.
